DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Claims 1-13 were pending in this application at the time of the previous Office Action. New Claims 14-36 have been added via the latest amendment. Therefore claims 1-36 are now pending and have been examined.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 1-28-2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The applicant argues that the claimed invention in claim 1 may be distinguished from the teachings of Rothermel '827 because the reference does not teach the features of expansion of a template via provision of an XML document that contains a list of users explicitly identified in the template but also users external to the template as well. Yet these are features that are not found in claim 1. The Rothermel reference teaches expansion of a template and providing expanded information to a plurality of computing devices claimed in claim 1 at the passages cited.

The applicant argues that the Rothermel reference does not teach the inclusion of conditional statements in the template. Yet such is found in the cited passage (col. 4 lines 30-62, col. 5 lines 60-67) and additionally in fig. 3B item 301 where a conditional access statement is shown.

The applicant argues that the instant invention may be distinguished from the Rothermel reference since the claimed invention is directed towards access restrictions of a user to a particular device and therefore is distinguishable from the Rothermel reference which, the applicant contends, is directed towards firewalls. Firstly, assuming arguendo that the applicant is correct, the widespread use of personal firewalls at the time of the invention obviates this argument. Secondly, the applicant's attention is called now to Rothermel at, for example, fig. 5C where individualized user access is taught.

The applicant argues that the Rothermel reference does not teach different classes of security templates. Yet such is indeed taught, as a reasonably broad interpretation of the term classes would include, at col. 7 lines 25-30 where the templates are taught as customizable for different NSD's. Since col. 6 teaches different classes of NSD's, it follows that the templates are themselves of different class types.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Rothermel et al., US 6,678,827.

Claims 1-6 and 8-12 have not been changed via the latest amendment, therefore no changes to the rejections have been necessitated. The rejections of claims 1-6 and

Art Unit: 2137

8-13 will not be repeated herein, but instead are incorporated herein in their entirety by reference to the previous Office Action in the case.

As for claims 7 and 13, Rothermel teaches the method of claim 1, wherein said policies are security policies regarding user access to each of the plurality of computing devices. (col. 11 lines 1-45)

As for claim 14, Rothermel teaches the system of claim 8, wherein at least one template includes a reference to information external to the template, and wherein said communication gateway expands the template by creating a document that includes information contained in the template and said external information. (fig. 3B items 30, 311, 316).

As for claims 15 and 19, Rothermel teaches the system of claim 14 wherein said document is an XML document (col. 5 lines 5-7).

As for claim 16, Rothermel teaches the system of claim 14 wherein said external information comprises a list of users (col. 11 lines 18-30).

As for claim 17, Rothermel teaches the system of claim 9 wherein said communications gateway expands a template to include information contained in a conditional statement only if the computing device to which said expanded information is to be provided meets the condition (col. 11 lines 35-40).

As for claim 18, Rothermel teaches the method of claim 1, wherein at least one template includes a reference to information external to the template, and wherein said expanding step comprises creating a document that includes information contained in the template and said external information (col. 11 lines 18-30).

As for claim 20, Rothermel teaches the method of claim 18, wherein said external information comprises a list of users (col. 11 lines 18-30).

As for claim 21, Rothermel teaches the method of claim 3, wherein said expanding step includes the step of including information contained in a conditional statement only if the computing device to which said expanded information is to be provided meets the condition (col. 11 lines 18-30).

As for claims 22-36, the claims are directed to the same method as found in claims 1-21 in slightly reworded form. Therefore these claims are rejected on the same basis as are claims 1-21.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following US Patent document teaches features pertinent to the claimed invention:

Boivie          6,502,140

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

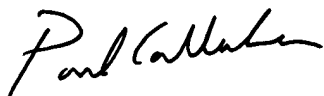

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
